

Do you know that in the few years we have been actually trying to compress a variety of doctrines and teachings at various levels. Its true you get no tests, no examinations, and all that. I know that. But that's not what we're working at. We're working at a transformation of the inner consciousness through understanding. Every now and then a big idea will just come in and wallop you over the head. And you know something is going on but you don't know what it is. You're not deep enough or you don't have enough understanding to know how that's working. May 1979 Columbus
