

Grace --excerpt from PB essay

We do not get at the Real by our own efforts alone nor does it come to us by its own volition alone. Effort that springs from the self and Grace that springs from beyond it are two things essential to success in this quest. The first we can all provide, but the second only the Overself can provide... --2.9.67

Make a space for Grace

Do your part: the rest is done for you.

Your doing is already Grace.

... The very fact you have consciously begun the quest is itself a manifestation of Grace, ... You are not really walking alone. The very love which has awakened within you for the Overself is a reflection of the love which is being shown towards you.

... Thus the very search upon which you have embarked, the studies you are making, and the meditations you are practicing are all inspired by the Overself from the beginning and sustained by it to the end. The Overself is already at work even before you begin to seek it. Indeed you have taken to the quest in unconscious obedience to the divine prompting. And that prompting is the first movement of Grace.

... What is needed to call down Grace is, first, a humility that is utter and complete, deeply earnest and absolutely sincere, secondly, an offering of self to the Overself, a dedication of earthly being to spiritual essence, and, thirdly, a daily practice of devotional exercise. The practices will eventually yield experiences, the aspirations will eventually bring assistance.

Essay on Grace --excerpt
(PB Notebooks 2.9.67)

The twofold way is indispensable: on the one hand the way of self-effort, working to overcome the ego, and on the other the way of Grace, through constantly seeking to remember your true identity in the Overself. 23.5.193

Ramakrishna: “the wind of grace is always blowing, but we don’t have our sail up.”

That is our part: put up the sail to catch the wind of grace.

PB: purpose of the reading and inquiry is to create an atmosphere of mind that will invite a response...
